

The Formation of Conditional Sentences I, II and III (If clauses)

Type I

| If Clause                   | 2nd Clause           |
|-----------------------------|----------------------|
| If it rains at the weekend, | I will stay at home. |
| IF + present simple tense   | + will future        |

Type II

| If Clause                       | 2nd Clause           |
|---------------------------------|----------------------|
| If the company made more money, | it would expand.     |
| IF + past simple tense          | + would + infinitive |

Type III

| If Clause                    | 2nd Clause                        |
|------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| If I had known you were ill, | I would have brought you flowers. |
| IF + past perfect tense      | + would + have + past participle  |

Questions :

What will you do if it rains at the weekend?

What would the company do if it made more money?

What would you have done if you had known she was ill?

Complete the following conditional sentences:

1. If the company launches the new product range later this year, it will attract (attract) new customers.
2. If the hotel employed more people in the high season, the service would be (be) better.
3. If the man had not driven the car so fast, the accident would not have happened (not happen).
4. If you want to withdraw large sums of money, you will be (be) asked for identification.
5. If the company had made (make) such a big profit last year, it would not have been able to pay out a dividend.
6. If the invoice is not (be not) paid within 30 days, we will take legal action.
7. If she completes the marketing campaign for the new products on time, we will be able to launch (can launch) the products on schedule.
8. If the manager had not updated the firewall yesterday, the virus would have attacked (attack) our computers.
9. The company would be able to manage (can manage) their cash flow problems better, if it took out a loan.
10. If Account holder A had wanted the bank to transfer the money to B, he should have given (should give) the bank those instructions.
11. They will put (put) the prices up again, if demand does not pick up.
12. If I were (be) you, I would ask again.